

3,000 Volunteers; 39 Community Projects; One Day Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts holds third annual company-wide Service Day, One Community. One Blue, on September 18

BOSTON — September 5, 2013 — On September 18, Blue Cross Blue Shield of Massachusetts (BCBSMA) will hold its third annual company-wide Service Day, One Community. One Blue. More than 3,000 associates, known as BlueCrew, will volunteer all together on one day at 39 different community sites across the state to beautify recreational areas, prepare meals, assemble food and clothes items, and enhance educational facilities, among many other activities. Visit the Service Day website for more information.

"Through our Corporate Citizenship efforts, we are committed to improving the lives of children and families in need, investing in the economy, empowering our workforce through civic engagement and diversity and inclusion initiatives and improving the environment," said Andrew Dreyfus president and CEO of BCBSMA. "Inspired by the vision and goals of our community partners, Service Day gives our associates the opportunity to strengthen cities, towns, and neighborhoods across Massachusetts and continues our more than 75 year legacy of community commitment - which has been a hallmark of Blue Cross since our founding."

Last year more than 3,000 of our associates volunteered at 31 projects and contributed more than 16,000 volunteer hours in one day. View a video of last years' Service Day here.
