

Ally opens ‘Daring to Disrupt’ competition to help empower women entrepreneurs

Business pitch contest opens today and runs through May 31

Ten finalists will receive a total of $57,000 in cash prizes to support business growth

Judges include award-winning journalist Katie Couric, Ally CMO Andrea Brimmer, among others

DETROIT, May 19, 2021 – Today, Ally Financial Inc. (NYSE: ALLY) kicks off the Daring to Disrupt contest, a new program to elevate and advance women’s entrepreneurship. The contest is an extension of the Daring to Disrupt content series, a collaboration between Ally and Katie Couric Media that spotlights inspirational women reimagining the future of business. Business owners whose ideas are disrupting their industries, challenging the status quo, and empowering women entrepreneurs are invited to enter the contest for a chance to win up to $30,000.

“Throughout my career, I’ve had the privilege to meet, work alongside, and be inspired by so many incredible women—both entrepreneurs following their passion and executives leading world-class companies. The power of their creativity and drive is unmatched,” said Andrea Brimmer, chief marketing and public relations officer, Ally Financial. “We created this contest to help jumpstart the journeys of more women who are ready to make their mark and deliver the kind of innovative solutions our economy and society need.”

Between now and May 31, individuals can submit a video via their Instagram feeds explaining their unique business idea and how they would use the prize money. Entries will be judged on innovation, disruption in their industry, how their business or idea empowers and supports women entrepreneurs, and clarity of concept, among other criteria. In addition to Brimmer, the panel of judges includes award-winning journalist and New York Times best-selling author, Katie Couric, founder and CEO of Harlem’s Fashion Row and co-founder of the Great Girlfriends podcast series, Brandice Daniel, and serial entrepreneur and founder of Sprol Pharmaceuticals and The Pink Ceiling, Cindy Eckert.

“What’s special about this contest is that it’s open to all entrepreneurs, regardless of their business’s development stage,” said Couric. “Whether it’s a first-of-its-kind idea that needs capital to get off the ground or a bold, new growth strategy for an existing business, I’m looking forward to hearing from individuals who are pushing the boundaries in their industry.”
