

New Jersey American Water Launches Inaugural Reusable Water Bottle Filling Station Grant Program

CAMDEN, N.J. – August 20, 2024 –New Jersey American Water is proud to announce the launch of its inaugural Reusable Water Bottle Filling Station Grant Program and is now accepting applications from eligible organizations within its service areas. This new initiative aims to boost trust in tap water and reduce single-use plastic waste by providing sustainable hydration options in public spaces.

“As the largest water utility in the state, we’re committed to promoting the benefits of tap water while supporting environmental sustainability,” stated Mark McDonough, president of New Jersey American Water. “This program was inspired by the ongoing requests we’ve received from local organizations over the years, looking for ways to provide sustainable water options in their communities. Through this initiative, we aim to meet that demand, and foster trust in the quality of our tap water.”

The grant program encourages applications from communities with demonstrated needs, particularly those that align with Inclusion, Diversity, and Equity (IDE) goals. Selected recipients will receive funding to purchase filling stations, enhancing public access to sustainable water sources. Eligible facilities must be located within New Jersey American Water’s service territory and be open to the public. Recipients will be responsible for installation and associated costs.

For more information and to apply, visit the Water Refill Station Grant Program page on the New Jersey American Water website. Applications must be submitted by September 27, 2024. Recipients will be notified in October.
