

President of California American Water Elected to California Chamber of Commerce Executive Committee

[SAN DIEGO] – DECEMBER 17, 2024 – California American Water is proud to announce that Kevin Tilden, President of the company, has been elected to the California Chamber of Commerce Executive Committee. This prestigious appointment recognizes Tilden's leadership in the water industry and his commitment to fostering a strong and thriving business environment in California.

CalChamber is a leading voice for businesses across the state, advocating for policies that promote economic growth and job creation. As a member of the Executive Committee, Tilden will join a distinguished group of executives representing diverse industries, working together to address critical issues facing California's business community.

Tilden expressed his enthusiasm for the opportunity to contribute to the CalChamber's mission: "I am deeply honored to join the CalChamber Executive Committee. This is a tremendous opportunity to collaborate with fellow business leaders and contribute to solutions to address the key challenges facing our state," said Tilden. "I am particularly eager to work on vital issues such as the environment and economy. I am also thrilled to serve on CalChamber's Women's Leadership Council."

Tilden's election to the CalChamber Executive Committee underscores California American Water's commitment to being an active participant in shaping the future of California's business landscape. Tilden joins fellow newly elected Executive Committee members Tom Hutchinson, Vice President of Finance at Google, and Rashmi Menon, Vice President and General Manager at Burns & McDonnell Engineering Co., Inc. The announcement was made alongside the news of Maryam S. Brown, incoming CEO and president of Southern California Gas Company, being elected as the 2025 chair of the CalChamber Board of Directors.
