Reports show drinking water in all service areas meets quality standards

DAVENPORT, IA – June 10, 2025 – Iowa American Water's most recent Water Quality Reports are now available for all service areas on its website at <https://www.amwater.com/iaaw/Water-Quality/Water-Quality-Reports/>. The company is proud to report that once again, the drinking water provided to customers in Iowa meets or surpasses both state and federal water quality standards for all regulated substances, including lead.

"At Iowa American Water, our mission is to provide safe, clean, reliable, and affordable water to our customers," said Brad Nielsen, President of Iowa American Water. "Our annual reports inform customers about their water quality and include details about their water, such as the specific water source and information on the importance of protecting our drinking water sources."

The 2024 annual water quality report, also known as a "consumer confidence report," details the quality of water the company provides to its customers using data collected from water quality testing in its local systems between January and December 2024.

It highlights the compounds detected in treated drinking water in comparison to the compliance standards established by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and Iowa Department of Natural Resources. To enhance education and transparency, the report also includes results of tests conducted on certain unregulated compounds in areas where they are present. Nielsen added, "We take pride in the work our team does every day to deliver high-quality water. Our water quality reports are one more way we demonstrate our commitment to our customers."
