

New Jersey American Water Proudly Recognizes American Water Charitable Foundation 2025 Workforce Readiness Grantees

Recipients include three nonprofit organizations across New Jersey

The American Water Charitable Foundation, a philanthropic non-profit organization established by American Water (NYSE: AWK), the largest regulated water and wastewater utility company in the U.S., recently announced that three organizations were awarded a Workforce Readiness grant, supporting communities served by New Jersey American Water.

The Workforce Readiness grant is part of the American Water Charitable Foundation's Keep Communities Flowing Grant Program, focusing on three pillars of giving: Water, People, and Communities. This grant program focuses on general career readiness, financial and business literacy, positive youth development, and life skills training.

"The American Water Charitable Foundation is proud to partner with eligible nonprofit organizations across New Jersey," said Carrie Williams, President, American Water Charitable Foundation. "We are thrilled to support initiatives that provide access to high-quality training and skills development for future leaders in the workplace."

Below is a list of grantees throughout New Jersey:

Center for Family Services Inc.

Center for Family Services was awarded $25,000 to expand its Amplifying Workforce Opportunities for Camden City Residents program. The grant supports access to occupational training and industry-recognized credentials in high-demand fields, many of which are STEM-related. Additional funding will support four employment fairs and 20 community workshops focused on job readiness, financial literacy, and digital skills. This investment helps reduce barriers to employment and connects residents with sustainable career pathways and economic opportunity.

Free All Minds Academy

Free All Minds Academy was awarded $25,000 to support its School 2 Prosperity Pipeline, a four-year initiative that provides mentorship, academic support, career exposure, and health services to youth in Camden. The funding helps sustain year-round programming for 10 students, addressing a critical funding gap. Through this investment, the organization continues to foster equitable outcomes and long-term success for young people navigating systemic barriers.

Family Connections Inc.

Family Connections Inc. was awarded $25,000 to expand its Pathways to Possibility program, which equips diverse youth with the tools and support needed for academic and career success. The grant funds job-readiness training, career exploration, and inclusive mental health services, with a focus on outreach to LGBTQIA+ and marginalized youth. By bringing in professionals from underrepresented industries, especially STEM, the program helps students envision and prepare for a brighter future.

"At New Jersey American Water, we believe that real progress happens when we invest in people and their potential," said Mark McDonough, president of New Jersey American Water and member, board of trustees, American Water Charitable Foundation. "This year's grantees are creating meaningful change, empowering youth, expanding access to workforce training, and building stronger communities. We are proud to see their work supported through the American Water Charitable Foundation and look forward to the lasting impact they will make across New Jersey."

"Center For Family Services is excited and grateful to receive this investment in our workforce development and financial opportunity programs to support the residents of Camden City," said Merilee Rutolo, President and Chief Strategy Officer of Center for Family Services. "With this funding and partnership with American Water, our capacity to offer career readiness training and skill building, along with personal financial tools will expand the socioeconomic mobility of individuals seeking sustainable employment."
