

McKeesport Area Customers Can Save on Utility Bills at Pennsylvania American Water Assistance Event on April 15

Local utilities, community organizations, and elected officials come together to support event

MCKEESPORT, Pa. (March 31, 2026) – Pennsylvania American Water is hosting a Utility Assistance and Resource Fair on Wednesday, April 15, from 3:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the McKeesport Palisades located at 100 Fifth Avenue in McKeesport.

More than 4,500 Pennsylvania American Water wastewater customers in the Mon Valley are likely eligible for monthly bill discounts, annual grants, and arrearage forgiveness. The company is working to help all eligible customers enroll in the program.

“We’re teaming up with other organizations serving McKeesport and surrounding areas to provide resources under one roof for residents seeking utility assistance,” said Tawana Dean, senior manager of customer advocacy for Pennsylvania American Water. “A quick stop at the event could save income-eligible customers up to 85% on their wastewater bill alone.”

Community organizations, state and local officials and representatives of utilities serving the McKeesport area will be on site to provide information, answer questions and enroll customers in assistance programs. Customers should bring income verification documents and their last two utility bills. Light refreshments will be provided.

“It’s important for McKeesport residents, especially those on a fixed income, to be aware of any options they have for assistance,” said McKeesport Mayor Tom Maglicco. “A resource fair is the perfect opportunity for community members to learn about available programs at a one-stop-shop for utility information, as well as state and city services.”

Pennsylvania American Water serves more than 10,400 wastewater customers in McKeesport and Duquesne, Port Vue, Dravosburg and a portion of West Mifflin.
