Many new vehicles are more affordable now than they have been in decades according to Charlie Vogelheim, executive editor, Kelley Blue Book. "It's a very competitive market right now. A combination of big incentives and low financing have kept several new model vehicle prices low."

Editorial Comments on the Top 10 Coolest New Cars List

"The vehicles on the list will appeal mostly to younger audiences since they all allow for extreme personalization and customization as well as their affordability. Buyers can add their own personal style to these vehicles and really make the car their own."

"The sleeper hit of 2003 and an all-round favorite of the Kelley Blue Book editorial team is the Hyundai Tiburon. Its sports-car styling, comfort and performance made this car just plain fun to drive, and from 22 years old to 50 years old, we all looked cool driving it."

"The Scion xB, coming out this later year is unique in its extreme styling. Developed for Gen Y, this car was made to be customized and has a lot of potential."

"The Honda Civic has always been a popular car. It's cool to own and cool to drive."

"The Ford Focus ZX3 surprised the editors of Kelley Blue Book. There is truly a 'cool quotient' for this car with some impressive handling."

The top 10 coolest new cars were chosen based on the expert opinions of the Kelley Blue Book editorial team. Selection was based on price, design, style and performance as well as; extensive research of each vehicle, the driving of manufacturer test units, talking with dealers as well as owners of cars under $18,000 and those considering a car under $18,000.
