With 45% of Gen Z naming Mexican cuisine as their forever favorite, the latest innovations from Cholula remain true to the brand's promise of high-quality ingredients and bold flavor. The debut of cooking and simmer sauces encourage fans to go beyond Taco Tuesday and recreate a broader spectrum of Mexican cuisine in their own kitchen. Birria, a dish known for its rich, slow-cooked flavors and hours-long preparation, can now be easily recreated at home – bringing mouthwatering, complex tastes without the time-consuming process. Additionally, the new Cremosa offerings, inspired by traditional crema (like sour cream), along with Chamoy, exemplify the brand's commitment to both satisfying consumer cravings and introducing authentic, next-level flavors to the mainstream.
