

Cognizant Honored With Consumer Goods Technology Magazine's 2009 Readers' Choice Award

Cognizant wins the award for the third year in a row; advances in subscribers' rankings as a top five outsourcing company

Cognizant (NASDAQ: CTSH), a leading provider of consulting, technology and business process outsourcing services, today announced that Consumer Goods Technology (CGT) magazine, an authority on information technology for the consumer packaged goods industry, has honored the company with the 2009 Readers' Choice Award in the outsourcing category. This is the third consecutive year that Cognizant has won this award.

"Cognizant has consistently marched forward each year, moving up from fifth place in 2007 to fourth place in 2008, and now third on the 2009 Top Ten Outsourcers list. We are especially honored to be recognized by the readers of Consumer Goods Technology, as they represent the voice of our customers," said Rajendra Mamodia, AVP and Head of Consumer Goods Practice for Cognizant. "Since winning last year's award, we have continued to serve a growing cadre of leading consumer goods companies worldwide, helping them balance customer demands with the realities of increasingly complex supply chains, increased costs, and the need for insight-driven innovation."

Alliston Ackerman, Editor, Consumer Goods Technology, noted, "As consumer goods companies strive to be lean and efficient, they increasingly realize that success depends on 'doing what you do best' -- in other words, focusing on core competencies. As a result, outsourcing initiatives continue to be on the rise, and innovative outsourcing leaders like Cognizant are helping consumer goods companies keep their eye on the prize."
