

MSA Announces Full-Year and Fourth Quarter Results

Full year net income increases 30 percent and operating income improves 340 basis points, driven by strategic investments in new products, acquisitions and cost reduction programs

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 23, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Global safety equipment manufacturer MSA Safety Incorporated (NYSE: MSA) today reported results for the fourth quarter and full year of 2016.

Annual Highlights

- Reported revenue was $1.15 billion, increasing 2 percent from a year ago on a reported basis and 4 percent on a constant currency basis.
- Operating income was $164 million or 14.3 percent of net sales, increasing 340 basis points from a year ago. Adjusted operating income, excluding foreign currency losses and restructuring, was $171 million or 14.8 percent of net sales, increasing 270 basis points from a year ago. The company's recent acquisition of UK-based Senscient, Inc. was dilutive to operating margin by 20 basis points for the year.
- Cash flow from operating activities was $135 million compared to $55 million in the same period a year ago, primarily due to higher cash flow from working capital on increased collections of receivables and effective inventory management programs. A clear focus on improving working capital drove higher cash flow in the quarter, with working capital finishing the year at 21.7 percent of net sales, compared to 25.7 percent of net sales in 2015.

Quarterly Highlights

- Reported revenue was $296 million, decreasing 6 percent from a year ago on a reported basis, and 4 percent on a constant currency basis.
- Operating income was $48 million or 16.1 percent of net sales, increasing 600 basis points from a year ago. Adjusted operating income, excluding foreign currency gains and restructuring, was $48 million or 16.2 percent of net sales, increasing 400 basis points from a year ago.
- Cash flow from operating activities was $103 million, compared to $45 million in the same period a year ago.

Comments from Management

"Our results for 2016 reflect strong returns on the strategic investments we've made in new products, acquisitions and restructuring programs to drive earnings expansion in a challenging economic cycle," said William M. Lambert, MSA Chairman, President and CEO. "Despite a difficult quarterly revenue comparison - attributable to the clearing of a significant backlog for self-contained breathing apparatus (SCBA) in the fourth quarter of 2015 - we achieved all of our key financial targets for the year and posted record net income of $92 million," he continued.

In particular, Mr. Lambert noted that net income increased 30 percent on revenue growth of 2 percent, driven by higher gross profit and a streamlined cost structure. He added that the company converted 119 percent of full year net income to free cash flow by reducing working capital, and was able to continue funding an increasing dividend while reducing its debt balance by $74 million from the end of 2015.

"While we managed through a slower growth environment in 2016, our corporate strategy was successful in that it allowed us to capture market share while expanding product margins and increasing profitability. As we look ahead to 2017, I'm pleased to see early signs of strengthening macro conditions and an increased order pace across several of our industrial-related product areas," Mr. Lambert said. "This momentum - coupled with the steps we have taken to drive leadership positions in our core product areas and reduce our cost structure - positions us well to drive enhanced shareholder value in 2017 and beyond."

The Americas and International segments were established on January 1, 2016. The Americas segment is comprised of our operations in the U.S., Canada and Latin America. The International segment is comprised of our operations in all other parts of the world including Europe, Africa, the Middle East, India, China, South East Asia and Australia. Certain global expenses are now allocated to each segment in a manner consistent with where the benefits from the expenses are derived. The 2015 segment results have been recast to conform with current period presentation.

Adjusted operating income (loss) and adjusted operating margin are the measures used by the chief operating decision maker to evaluate segment performance and allocate resources. As such, management believes that adjusted operating income (loss) and adjusted operating margin are useful metrics for investors. Adjusted operating income (loss) is defined as operating income excluding restructuring and currency exchange gains / losses. Adjusted operating margin is defined as adjusted operating income (loss) divided by net sales. Adjusted operating income (loss) and adjusted operating margin are not recognized terms under GAAP, and the Company's definition of adjusted operating income (loss) and adjusted operating margin may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies. As such, management believes that it is appropriate to consider operating income determined on a GAAP basis in addition to these non-GAAP measures.

Management believes that constant currency revenue growth is a useful metric for investors, as foreign currency translation can have a material impact on revenue growth trends. Constant currency revenue growth highlights ongoing business performance excluding the impact of fluctuating foreign currencies, which is outside of management's control.

Organic constant currency revenue growth is defined as constant currency revenue growth excluding acquisitions. Management believes that organic constant currency revenue growth is a useful measure for investors to provide an understanding of MSA's standalone results.

There can be no assurances that MSA's definition of constant currency revenue growth or organic constant currency revenue growth is consistent with that of other companies. Management believes that constant currency SG&A expense and organic constant currency SG&A expense are useful metrics for investors to measure the effectiveness of the company's cost reduction program announced in 2015. Constant currency SG&A expense highlights spending patterns excluding fluctuating foreign currencies. Organic constant currency SG&A expense highlights the impact of acquisitions and strategic transaction costs. These metrics provide investors with a greater level of clarity into spending levels on a year-over-year basis. MSA's definition of this metric may not be comparable to metrics used by other companies. As such, management believes that it is appropriate to consider SG&A expense determined on a GAAP basis in addition to these non-GAAP measures.

There can be no assurances that additional special items will not occur in future periods, nor that MSA's definition of adjusted earnings is consistent with that of other companies. As such, management believes that it is appropriate to consider both net income determined on a GAAP basis as well as adjusted earnings.

Management believes that free cash flow is a meaningful measure for investors. Management reviews cash from operations after deducting capital expenditures because these expenditures are necessary to promote growth of MSA's business and are likely to produce cash from operations in future periods. It is important to note that free cash flow does not reflect the residual cash balance of the company for discretionary spending since other items, including debt and dividend payments, are deducted from free cash flow before arriving at the company's ending cash balance. Management defines free cash flow conversion as free cash flow divided by net income attributable to MSA Safety.

About MSA:

Established in 1914, MSA Safety Incorporated is the global leader in the development, manufacture and supply of safety products that protect people and facility infrastructures. Many MSA products integrate a combination of electronics, mechanical systems and advanced materials to protect users against hazardous or life-threatening situations. The company's comprehensive product line is used by workers around the world in a broad range of markets, including the oil, gas and petrochemical industry, the fire service, the construction industry, mining and the military. MSA's core products include self-contained breathing apparatus, fixed gas and flame detection systems, portable gas detection instruments, industrial head protection products, fire and rescue helmets, and fall protection devices. With 2016 revenues of $1.15 billion, MSA employs approximately 4,300 people worldwide. The company is headquartered north of Pittsburgh in Cranberry Township, Pa., and has manufacturing operations in the United States,

Europe, Asia and Latin America. With more than 40 international locations, MSA realizes approximately half of its revenue from outside North America. For more information visit MSA's web site at www.MSAafety.com.

Cautionary Statement Regarding Forward-Looking Statements:

Except for historical information, certain matters discussed in this press release may be forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements include but are not limited to all projections and anticipated levels of future performance. Forward looking statements involve risks, uncertainties and other factors that may cause our actual results to differ materially from those discussed herein.
