Stevens Pass Announces 2024/25 Winter Season Opening Date and Epic Pass Labor Day Deadline Details

STEVENS PASS, Wash., Aug. 14, 2024 – Stevens Pass is pleased to announce that it will open for the 2024/25 winter season on Friday, December 6, conditions permitting. It's time to dust off those skis and boards to start planning for a season of memorable turns and après-ski tales by the fire.

This season, guests can enjoy a series of exciting events, including the second annual Women's Weekend, an avalanche dog demonstration and meet-and-greet, and the end-of-season Springfest featuring a pond skim. In addition to skiing and snowboarding, visitors can explore activities like snowshoeing, Nordic skiing, and sledding at the Nordic Center located just 5 miles from the Pass. Stevens Pass also offers ski and snowboard lessons, which are now available to reserve online, along with equipment rentals and a variety of dining options.

While the stoke builds for the season ahead, guests are encouraged to prepare in advance so they can hit the slopes with ease from day one. Here is a checklist to start preparing now for the 2024/25 ski and ride season:
