

10 Ways You Can Support Wounded Warrior Project

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 18, 2017 /PRNewswire-USNewswire/ -- There's a lot of resources that go into serving over 100,000 wounded warriors, their family members, and caregivers. Wounded Warrior Project® (WWP) is able to provide free programs and services and meet the needs of those we serve, because of donors like you. But for those who are unsure about how they can support WWP, there are many ways to get involved. Check out the full list at: <http://newsroom.woundedwarriorproject.org/highlights?item=30768>.

Student Ambassador Events

Does your school have team spirit for the U-S-A? Then the Student Ambassador program is for you! School advisers or staff members who want to raise awareness and funds for WWP through their school or athletic team can register as Student Ambassadors. Some of our young supporters have fundraised through an existing class, club, or athletic team or by hosting an event or series of events at their school. All registered Student Ambassadors will receive a supporter kit containing tools and tips to start a fundraising campaign, WWP materials, and marketing support tools. To learn more, visit <https://www.woundedwarriorproject.org/give-back/students>.

"Do It Yourself" Fundraising Events

Many of our supporters have an affinity to support our wounded veterans by hosting grassroots, DIY local community events. By registering your fundraiser, you can create a personalized fundraising page and receive access to exclusive materials, such as WWP logos and wordmarks, customizable flyer and poster templates, a letter of support, a press release template, and social media graphics. The WWP team provides a helpful primer on best practices: <https://www.woundedwarriorproject.org/media/2813/www-proud-supporter-best-practices.pdf>.

We've also seen many successful community events such as athletic gatherings (like triathlons, marathons, walks, golf tournaments, or other sporting events), concerts, dinners, and galas, to name a few. Some of our more adventurous supporters have even biked, walked, hiked, or ridden motorcycles across America. To get started, check out <https://www.woundedwarriorproject.org/give-back/become-a-proud-supporter>.

To see how generous donors, like you, fuel WWP's mission and support over 100,000 registered wounded warriors, family members, and caregivers, visit <http://newsroom.woundedwarriorproject.org/>.
